“The best way to cure disease is by your own mind, in other words, through meditation. Not only is this the most effective method, but also there are no side effects, and as well as healing, it promotes peace, calm and tranquillity in your heart. Then the happiness you experience is transmitted to others, and thus you benefit them as well.”

Lama Zopa Rinpoche

What is Buddhism?

Shakyamuni Buddha began teaching 2500 years ago. The Buddha taught that our dissatisfaction with life and the problems we encounter are not due to external circumstances, but to our own innate attitude of self-cherishing, which gives rise to anger and attachment and is based on ignorance.

He taught that through meditation and following the Path, we can eliminate ignorance and develop compassion, equanimity and wisdom and thus gain lasting happiness and peace.

These profound teachings flourished in Asia from the time of the Buddha, but have only become available to the West in recent times.

Foundation for the Preservation of the Mahayana Tradition (FPMT)

The Foundation for the Preservation of the Mahayana Tradition (FPMT) was founded in 1975 by Lama Thubten Yeshe and Lama Thubten Zopa Rinpoche.

Since Lama Yeshe passed away in 1984 his beloved friend and close disciple, Lama Zopa Rinpoche, has been the Spiritual Director of the FPMT. He is the guiding energy behind the Hospice of Mother Tara, which began in August 1991.

Understanding that every one is trying to avoid painful and unpleasant experiences, improve their circumstances and find happiness, the teachings are offered as a pure ultimate medicine for the illnesses of life.

You can support the FPMT by becoming a Foundation Member. There are different levels of membership available. All members receive an annual subscription to Mandala Magazine. To find out more see the FPMT website
